

Dr. Jason Franasiak, MD, FACOG, TS (ABB) is an attending physician at Reproductive Medicine Associates of New Jersey where he serves as lead physician of the South Jersey Marlton office and Assistant Professor at Thomas Jefferson University in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology, Division of Reproductive Endocrinology and Infertility. He received his undergraduate degree from The College of William and Mary and medical degree from the University of Virginia graduating summa cum laude along with being named to the Phi Beta Kappa and Alpha Omega Alpha academic societies. Dr. Franasiak is regularly invited to speak at the regional, national, and international level and has authored and contributed to over 100 peer reviewed publications, published chapters, and abstracts. He serves as the editor of a textbook on recurrent implantation failure, on the Editorial Board for Fertility and Sterility and the British Journal of Obstetrics and Gynecology, and on the executive board of the Society for Reproductive Endocrinology and Infertility.